SYNOPSIS

Scene 5 – By the Raging River

(English film text / Translation: Leigh Hoch, Hamburg)

COOLIE: We took the right route, sir. What we see over there is the river Myr. Though usually not hard to cross at this time of year, when the water stands high the current is quite strong and perilous. The river is high.

MERCHANT: We must get across.

COOLIE: Waiting up to 8 days is common before it can be crossed safely. It's very dangerous now.

MERCHANT: We'll see. We can't wait a single day.

COOLIE: Then we have to look for a ford or a boat.

MERCHANT: That will take too long.

COOLIE: But I'm a very poor swimmer.

MERCHANT: The water's not that high.

COOLIE : It is very high.

MERCHANT: Once you're in the water, you'll swim. Because you'll have to. The point is, you can't see this from all sides like I can. Why do we have to go to Urga? Have you heard that roads and even a railway are supposed to be built across this region? Just picture it: there'll be a bridge...
