

DOROTCHKA

by Olga Delane

SYNOPSIS

In the Siberian countryside, marriage is traditionally seen as the greatest achievable happiness for a woman. But the 80-year-old Dorotchka, an archetypal babushka, has always remained alone. At the kitchen table, she contemplates life, love, regret and loneliness – has she maybe brought this fate upon herself? The film is a spinoff of a film that screened at IDFA 2016 any many other international film festivals, SIBERIAN LOVE, in which filmmaker Olga Delane explored the same views on love and marriage.
