SYNOPSIS

'here' is a science fiction short film, a snapshot from a post-catastrophic future with flashbacks to our current present.

The events that led to this devastation are just as much in the dark as the causes for the memory lapses of the protagonist of unknown gender. With the help of his questions, one can re-/reconstruct versions of a story and possible incidents.

'here' is a photographic panorama film. In multi-layered images, the film shows the effects of the impending climate catastrophe and deals with the non-linearity of our thoughts and memories.
