

HOMAGE TO LIFE

by Thomas Gonschior, Christa Spannbauer

SYNOPSIS

The film uncovers the formidable capacities of four Auschwitz survivors who courageously walked through the horrors of their past. All now in their eighties, they speak out and campaign so that no one has to ever again experience what they did. In their lectures, readings, concerts, with their art and music, they express their resolve for conciliation. The survivors show that as well as the incalculable suffering of the Holocaust, something else exists: the triumph of humaneness over inhumanity.
