

ON THE ROAD WITH A RED SCARF

by Heide Breitel

SYNOPSIS

The Film recounts episodes from the lives of District Mothers who do their work in Berlin-City Center. The women support immigrant families, and they do it with passion and great success. Because they've all endured the trials of immigration, they know where their help is needed. Even during their training period, the women act as a bridge to German society for the needy families in their community.

The film documents these people in their environment: their training, its conclusion when they are officially certified, and their subsequent work in family centers as well as in refugee camps.
