

POLLEN AND INSECTS - FORENSIC SCIENCE AND ITS NEW TECHNIQUES

by Anna Pflüger

SYNOPSIS

They are the unsung heroes of crime investigation – forensic scientists. We meet Europe's leading experts in forensics. We learn about the newest methods in their profession and take a closer look at their most exciting cases.

We take a closer look at the ones working behind the scenes when it comes to solving major crimes. Here, in high tech laboratories in the cellars of Europe's Universities, hospitals and forensic institutes, is where they work on their crucial share in figuring out what has happened at a crime scene. They are forensic scientists, the unsung heroes of crime investigation. They did not choose a job in the area of criminal investigations. First and foremost, they are scientists. A great interest in their topic is what brought them to where they are today. Like the forensic entomologist Jens Amendt in Frankfurt, Germany, who was fascinated by insects and decided to study them. It was years into his professional career before he became a specialist in forensic...
