

SMOKE

by Daniela Lucato

SYNOPSIS

Smoke is a reflection during COVID about our concept of space.

How do we feel it when we are forced to use space in a different way?

How are our feelings changing, the way we also perceive time in the same space?

I titled this work Smoke because it is the image that comes to my mind when I think about this moment: symbolically it represents the unclear way we look now at the world, it is a temporary vision but it changes the way we perceive everything.

Which kind of projections do we have about us in relation to our environment: are our longings changing? Or are we the same people with a different consciousness?

Who are we in this new constellation?
