

WHO WE WILL HAVE BEEN

by Erec Brehmer

SYNOPSIS

For filmmaker Erec Brehmer, a world collapses when his long-time partner Angelina Zeidler dies in a common car accident. With the help of amateur videos, voice messages, diary entries and music they listened to together, he sets out to find places and situations in which he can meet his deceased girlfriend again. The result is not only a powerful, authentic document of coming to terms with grief, but also a sensual invitation to life. A story about identity after the loss of a loved one. (36 DOK.fest Munich)
