

ZUHUR'S DAUGHTERS

by Laurentia Genske, Robin Humboldt

SYNOPSIS

Two Syrian sisters, on the verge of adulthood and trans *, are looking to find their way in their new home-country Germany. This film not only tells the moving story of a family that sticks together despite all hardships, but also poses the question of one's own identity. A coming-of-age documentary about the search for one's individual place in society.
